Bristol mermaids and her male aquatic stars competed for honors in the Elks' annual water carnival held here last night. The water sports were the opening feature of an evening filled with entertainment and pleasure which was in honor of the out-of-town members, their wives and friends of the Elks' Lodge.

Spectators filled the spacious porches in the rear of the Elks' Home, completely covered the lawn of the Elks, as well as that portion of Walnut street extending from Radcliffe street down to the river. In addition to this, there were many in canoes and launches which dotted the river.

Miss Bessie McGinley captured two firsts. She won first honors in the 75 yard dash for girls and first honors in the diving event for girls. In the 75 yard dash Miss McGinley had as competitors Anita Wilson, who finished second, Alice Gallagher and Sue Strumfels. The winner of this event took the lead at the start and kept it until the contestants had crossed the finish line. Miss McGinley won a gold wrist watch and Miss Wilson a hat bag.

In the diving event for girls Miss McGinley again showed her prowess with Mildred Purcell finishing second. There were three competitors in this diving event, the third one being Sue Strumfels. The first exhibition was the form dive; the second, swan dive, and the third was optional with the contestant. The winner received a hand bag and Miss Purcell an overnight case.

In the event for men, which was a hundred yard dash, Maurice Flood good finished first, with Dayton Fegley second. The winner received a gold wrist watch, while the second prize was a silver cigarette case.

The diving event for men was a fine exhibition and the winner was Percy Earll with Charles Ancker second. Earll chose the twist as his favorite dive and elicited much applause for the manner in which he executed it. Chas. Ancker took a "jack," the other competitors being S. Trott and J. S. Fine. Fine giving a standing and sitting dive and Trott a twist. The first prize was a leather traveling bag and the second prize was a gold trimmed wallet and keychain.

The diving event for junior boys was well received and the spectators roundly applauded the participants. Franklin Fine was judged the best when he gave a most excellent exhibition of the half twist. Harold Turner was declared second best. The other participants were William Purcell, J. Rue, J. Fitzgerald and T. Barrett. The contestants first gave a form dive, then the swan dive and the third was optional. The half twist was Fine's selection and proved a winner for him. He was awarded a sweater and Turner was given a sweat shirt.

In the canoe events, A. Bauer and F. Holland received first prize for the in and out race. Each received a knife set. The other competitors were Percy Earll and Thomas Smoyer, A. Wilson and F. Strumfels, M. Bloodgood and B. McGinley, Ralph Bruden and J. S. Fine.

The concluding event of the carnival was the scramble race, two in a boat. In this event the contestants were lined up on the float. Their canoes having been towed out into the river and set adrift at the crack of the gun, when all contestants jumped overboard. Each pair endeavoring to reach their canoe, board it and paddle back to the float with their hands. Ralph Bruden and J. S. Fine were the winners. Each received a gold fountain pen.

FAIL TO CONNECT MEN SEIZED IN DYNAMITING

Suspects Are Soon Discharged
After Hearing Before
A Justice

EVIDENCE WAS LACKING

DOYLESTOWN, Aug. 13.—Upon the advice of Lieutenant Pickering, of the State Highway Patrol, and the District Attorney's office, John Radcliffe and Michael McGarrity, both employees of the William D. Stear stone quarry on Buckingham Mountain, arrested as suspects in the dynamiting escapade in Buckingham township, when one house was wrecked and scores of windows shattered, were released yesterday.

"There was no evidence presented to hold them," said Justice of the Peace James, before whom the men were arraigned. No other arrests have been made and the authorities say they have no other clues as to who set off the five dynamite charges that rocked the countryside for a radius of five miles from Buckingham Mountain.

Reports broadcast today that the dynamiting escapade was connected in some way with an alleged disturbance at the Bucks County Prison, here, were flatly denied by the county and prison officials. A squad of State highway patrolmen have been on guard at the prison for four days as a precautionary measure, it was explained today.

"Reports published concerning an attempt to bomb the prison are nothing but trash."

BOY SCOUTS HAVE BUSY TIME AT THEIR CAMP

Activities Started Last Monday
And Program is Full
One

TAKE PART IN SPORTS

By Newt Wismer
(Boy Scout Camp Clerk)
BOY SCOUT CAMP, FLEMINGTON, N. J., Aug. 13.—Activities started with a bang Monday morning. After the hour devoted to Camp Betterment the scouts had an opportunity to pass tests and many scouts advanced in Scoutcraft. It rained hard before mess but stopped in time to allow the meal to be eaten without getting wet.

After mess a Physical Meet was held and the following boys won:
Standing broad jump, 1st, May; 2nd, Ambler; 3rd, J. Siegler.
25-yard dash: 1, Gerlach; 2, Garlits; 3, Garlits.
Shot put (14-18): 1, Ambler; 2, May; 3, Garlits.
Shot put (12-14): 1, Darlington; 2, R. Wein; 3, J. Welsh.

A storm in the middle of the afternoon stopped activities for awhile although some scouts enjoyed themselves wrestling. The heavy down-pour of rain after evening mess made it impossible for an evening game so everyone turned in early.

Tuesday turned out to be a pleasant day although the weather seemed unfavorable in the morning. A good breeze blew in the afternoon and gave the blankets a good airing. Tent inspection and personal inspection occurred at 9:15. Each tent had to be clean and in good order and the scouts with clean faces, hands, nails, teeth, and hair combed.

A Scout Meet was held in the afternoon with knot-tying, signalling, and many other scout activities as main events. All scouts entering were given one point and those securing a first, second, or third place were given extra points towards a camp bar and camp letter. The results of the Scout Meet were:

Knot-Tying: 1, Kornstadt; 2, Hamilton; 3, Shellenberger.
Signalling (Semaphore): 1, Kornstadt and Siegler; 2, Hern and Foster; 3, Pearlman and Welsh.

First Aid, chair carry: 1, Wetherill, Starck, Garlits; 2, Gerlach, Larzeiere, W. Warner; 3, Welsh, Shellenberger, Pearlman.

Skin-the-Snake: 1, Hyena Patrol; 2, Raven Patrol; 3, Wolf Patrol.
Compact and Stretch: 1, Eagle and Hyena Patrols; 2, Hawk and Wolf Patrols; 3, Raven Patrol.

Leg Stretch: 1, Hyena Patrol; 2, Wolf Patrol; 3, Raven Patrol.
Dress Parade was held before mess. The scouts learned to stand at attention and march better.

Wednesday turned out to be the best day of the five that the scouts were in camp. The sun shone brightly and there was no rain for a change.

A Treasure Hunt was the main feature of the afternoon after a morning of Camp Betterment, and intensive passing of Scout Tests. A trail for the Hunt led through the woods with a small treasure every twenty-five feet. This treasure would be for 5 or 10 points to the successful scouts' credit. The main treasure which was 15 points and a special prize of a Leader's Nature Book was won by Edward Garlits in a hollow stump.

The evening game was "no-man's-land," and it was snappy. There is either a game or campfire each evening.

In the Cub Camp the morning was spent in passing Cubcraft, and the (Continued on Page Four)

MAN TRAVELS AROUND WORLD WITH JACK-KNIFE

Jerry Thompson, Experienced
Whittler, Visits Relatives
In Bristol

IS A GLOBE TROTTER

At Age of 58 Thompson Defeated 49 Others in Ten-
Mile Skating Race

The man widely known as one who "travels around the world with a jack-knife," is at present a guest at a Bristol home. Jerry Thompson, well-known showman, wood-carver and sailor, is now visiting at the residence of his relatives, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Moss, of 806 Jefferson avenue.

Jerry Thompson is known as the one who two years ago defeated 49 other contestants in a ten-mile ice-skating race on Newton Lake, Collingswood, N. J. At the age of 58 years the veteran skater outclassed the other fast men, all of them much younger than he, some ranging as young as 20 years. This was only one of many races in which he entered, as he has been an adept at the sport for a long, long time.

In the attic of his home near Camden, Mr. Thompson enjoys many hours of patient labor, whittling away with the jack-knife. The attic is surely a place of interest with its carvings of lodge insignias, flowers, wooden chains, ships, plaques, etc.

Born in Pawnee, Oklahoma, "Jerry," as he is familiarly called by many, had a splendid opportunity to learn about the customs of the people of the plains. At the age of 14 he became a cowboy. Pawnee was then in Indian territory, and although his first work with the jack-knife was started with no one to instruct him, he later learned much from the Indians.

His work at wood carving formed the basis for employment in the Pawnee Bill show, a wild west show, which employment he commenced in 1897. Ten years later he became connected with the Walter L. Main show, of the circus type. Thousands of patrons of these shows watched the artist as he deftly whittled out all kinds of novelties. With the latter show he remained four years.

It was prior to 1910 that the world's attention was called to the proposed flight across the Atlantic of the dirigible "America." Two years were spent by Mr. Thompson in working on the rigging of the large ship of the air. The flight proved unsuccessful, as the dirigible was unable to finish the trip. The flight ended in the waters of the Atlantic although the crew was saved by a tramp steamer, the "Trent." "Jerry" proudly displays a reproduction of the ill-fated "America."

For years he was engaged in rigging work, being employed in various shipyards about Philadelphia and Camden. This work ceased five weeks ago, when Mr. Thompson decided to enjoy a rest. He has hopes of traveling with the 101 Ranch Show in 1928. Having traveled around the world twice, on one of which occasions his jack-knife paid expenses, Mr. Thompson has learned to speak three other languages. In a fluent manner he can converse in French, Spanish, Norwegian, and English.

In speaking of his work as a sail-maker, some of which time he traveled at sea the curio carver said: "I was shipwrecked twice. One of the boats, 'The Newcastle' was sunk 200 miles off the coast of England, but the crew was saved by an English bark." The second disaster was when the Bristol visitor was on the "Coronet," a three-master schooner, in the Gulf Stream. The schooner had a large cargo of salt. When the craft sprang a leak and the salt became wet, the mineral began to press outward upon the walls of the vessel, making the vessel split. On this occasion those on board the "Coronet" were picked up by a fishing-schooner.

Hundreds have shown an interest in his novelties, among which is a carved kitchen table. It took the carver three years to complete work on this particular piece, the work being done in his spare time.

—Mrs. Susie B. Stokes and granddaughter, Miss Mary Harris, of 238 Mulberry street, are spending a week at Seaside Heights, N. J. Miss Helene Harris, also of 238 Mulberry street, will be a week-end guest of her grandmother, Mrs. Stokes.

MAN ARRESTED HERE PLOTTED TO "BREAK" JAIL; PLAN FAILED WHEN TWO PRISONERS LOST THEIR NERVE

Jail Authorities Make Details Known After New Bedford Police Arrive to Take Prisoner Back; Record is "Worst Criminal in Massachusetts." Claim the Police of That City—Clothes Missing from Jail—State Highway Patrol Has Been on Guard

(Special to Courier)

DOYLESTOWN, Aug. 13.—With the arrival here today of Captain Raymond C. Chase and Sergeant John Davies of the police department of New Bedford, Mass., it was officially stated that there had been an attempt at a general jail delivery at the Bucks County Prison here during the early part of the week, and it was only prevented by the fact that two prisoners at the last moment made known the details to the authorities. It is believed that Bristol people may have been implicated in the attempted setting free of the prisoners.

Stephen Loroche, Jr., 27, of New Bedford, Mass., and James L. Neese, 19, 1541 First avenue, Columbus, Georgia, are the two who were the "brains" of the plot, according to jail authorities.

Loroche, Jr., was arrested in Bristol, August 4th, when he was taken into custody at 219 Cleveland street under the alias of Sylvester E. Lyons. Loroche was arrested here on a warrant from Trenton, where it is alleged he had participated in robberies to the extent of $2,500 in the New Jersey capital city. Neese was arrested June 20th for having committed an alleged aggravated assault and battery on Max Kline of Fallsington. A charge of carrying concealed deadly weapons was also lodged against Neese.

FOUR SLIGHTLY HURT WHEN AIRPLANE FALLS

Quartette Was on Way From Long Island To Baltimore

PLANE BADLY DAMAGED

Four persons—one woman and three men—were slightly injured here last night when an airplane in which they were riding crashed to earth after a drop of about 200 feet.

The injured:
Mrs. Boyd—laceration of arm above left elbow, and lacerations of left side of jaw.

Peter G. Rothmann, of Norwich City, L. I.—lacerations and abrasion of left knee; and lacerated tongue.
Vanduzer Burton, Long Island—suffering from shock suffered in short fall from plane.

The entire group was taken to the Harriman Hospital where their injuries were treated. The four were discharged from that institution last evening.

The quartette were enroute from Long Island to Baltimore and after their injuries were treated at the Harriman Hospital they departed for New York on a P. R. R. train.

In flying from Long Island to Baltimore, it appears that the pilot, Paul Boyd, got off his route and flew over Bustleton, where his motor developed trouble. He continued on to the flying field of the Keystone Aircraft Corporation where the accident occurred. The plane dropped about 200 feet and stuck its nose into the ground. The plane was badly damaged and is now at the plant of the Keystone Company.

NOTICE

All members of Washington Camp No. 789, P. O. S. of A., are requested to meet at Trades Hall, Wood street, Sunday evening, August 14th, at eight o'clock to attend the funeral services of a late member, Lawrence S. McCoy.

CORRECTION

The Courier has been asked to correct an error made by Mr. Litto, manager of the Riverside Theatre, that appeared in last night's paper. Mr. Litto advertised the "Song and Dance Man" to be shown on the screen last night, when he intended to advertise "The Social Celebrity." The "Song and Dance Man," featuring George M. Cohan, will be shown next Friday evening.

—Mrs. R. E. Young, and son Walter, of Taft street, have returned to their home after a several weeks' motor trip through Canada.

In addition to the Trenton safe cracking, alleged to have been done by Loroche, he is charged with having stolen $12,000 from the department store of M. C. Swift & Sons, of New Bedford, Mass. According to the New Bedford police, Loroche is Massachusetts' worst and most dangerous criminal. He was arrested October 10, 1923, and sentenced to serve from four to ten years at Charlestown, Mass. He was transferred to the State Prison Camp at Rutland, Mass., from which he escaped June 18, 1926.

The plot at the Bucks County Jail here, after its discovery by prison authorities, was kept secret until New Bedford authorities arrived here today for Loroche. The authorities kept the plot secret, they say, so as to prevent any disturbance which might occur on the outside. According to jail authorities, Loroche and Neese plotted the scheme last Saturday or Sunday. It was to have occurred Monday morning and then if it failed, another attempt was to have been made Tuesday morning with aid from the outside. There was to be a motor car in waiting outside the jail and the jail telephone was to ring at the same time that the bell on the front door of the jail was to sound. This would attract the attention of two guards and the other two guards who would be left on duty in the jailyard with the prisoners, were to have been overpowered and beaten. Then, Loroche and Neese were to open the gates, jump into the waiting motor and speed to freedom, the other prisoners taking their chances in a get-away. One of the prisoners, however, lost his nerve as the time neared and informed the jailors. Consequently, they were on their guard and the attempt was frustrated. A motor, however, circled the jail with a man and a woman in it, but got away before they were placed under arrest, and the telephone call was made as scheduled.

The two prisoners, Loroche and Neese, were put into solitary confinement, much against their protests and a detail of State Highway Patrolmen, under Lt. Pickering, arrived to co-operate with the local detail under command of Corporal Kennedy. State Highway patrolmen were placed on guard inside the jail and slept in the detention house on off shifts. Eight patrolmen were on guard day and night, working in shifts. The State Police have recently been withdrawn from Bucks County to do strike duty in the soft coal fields and it was due to this fact that the highway patrolmen were detailed for the guard duty.

Loroche, in custody of Chase and Davies, will leave the jail here today by a secret route for New Bedford, Mass. Chase says he has no fear of his prisoner escaping, as he will be well guarded and that he has known him since he was 14 years of age. He will be shackled to the two officers. According to New Bedford police, Loroche is an expert at opening safes. "There are none better," says Chase. Loroche is also reputed to be affiliated with an interstate bandit gunmen gang. He has a wife and two children in New Bedford. His wife is now suing him for divorce.

According to jail authorities, it is believed that the attempted escape of the prisoners was to have been aided by visitors who recently called at the jail to see Loroche. The visitors were a man and a woman who claim they were from Bristol. The man said he is an attorney. According to New Bedford police, it is believed the woman is a sister of Loroche. She is now under $2500 bail on a criminal charge in New Bedford.

With the discovery of the attempted plot, the jail authorities found that all of Loroche's clothing and a small sum of money had disappeared from (Continued on Page Four)

PERMANENCE

English visitors to America sometimes express surprise at the temporary nature of our buildings. Frame houses! Why, they won't last more than 50 years! Business blocks of brick! They'll be no good a century hence! The answer is, that we don't build for permanence, but for utility. When a building wears out or becomes obsolete we scrap it. The Englishman finds that hard to understand.

But he has the same problem at home. "Permanent" structures simply do not exist. Even the Pyramids will wear out some day. At present the Londoner is worrying about three "permanent" constructions. The frame of St. Paul's is too weak to support the dome; its supports are crumbling, and several thousand pounds must be spent in duplicating the work that Sir Christopher Wren did badly because he could not get proper foundations or sufficient funds for stronger pillars, 250 years ago. Waterloo Bridge has been closed to traffic after a century of use because its supports did not go deeply enough into the ground and the arches had begun to sink. And now it is found that the Houses of Parliament are rotting away because the stone of which they are built is too soft to stand London smoke and the acids deposited in soot. They are only 85 years old. The Carlton Club had to be resurfaced last year because the stones of its front wall were disintegrating. Westminster Abbey has to be watched constantly for signs of dissolution, and when they appear they necessitate repairs.

To build for permanence is well when the object created is one of beauty, but it must be remembered that real permanence can never be achieved and that in the long run maintenance costs are bound to be heavy.

ANIMAL PSYCHOLOGY

There is apparently no limit to the benefits which can be won for the human race through the study of psychology. William James gives us through his writings on this science invaluable lessons as to the workings of the will, the formation of habits, etc. Freud teaches us through psycho-analysis how nervous disorders may be cured. Psychology is being used in the army, in educational institutions, and in the business world to determine the fitness of men and women for their tasks. The uses to which the science is being applied are constantly increasing.

Here comes Professor Lepinay now with a series of lectures on the psychology of the lower animals. For 20 years he has been studying their mental operations, with a view to applying the knowledge gained to the utilization of the beasts for the profit of mankind. He finds they are wholly free from hypocrisy, and so it is easier to get at the root of their sentiments and passions than it is in human beings.

As an example of the benefit that such studies as his may confer he tells us he has found that the cat, though now practically a useless animal, could be trained for many useful purposes, including rabbit hunting, if we could only become acquainted with the way its mind works. Study the psychology of animals, he says, and you will be able to make useful servants of them.

About 750,000,000 pencils are sold in America yearly, but we can't learn who buys them.

SYNOPSIS

Emmett Murtough, a gay, careless youth of Kilmamul, a village on the west coast of Ireland, plans to go to America, and the villagers give a farewell supper for him. He is in love with Sheila, daughter of Old Tom Kildare, and Sheila has promised to join him when he sends for her. Emmett has flirted dangerously with Annie Finnegan and her father, Denis, thrashes Emmett. He escapes with the aid of Sheila.

It was more than two months after the disastrous banquet at the Inn that Sheila heard from Emmett. He wrote a short note to Old Tom and enclosed a postcard photograph showing him resplendent in a white linen suit with a brave cap upon his head.

"Dear Tom, I have a job and am enclosing a picture in my uniform," the note read. "Give my love to Sheila and tell her it won't be long till I have a fine job and will be making lots of money."

Sheila paid little attention to the letter. Old Tom raved over the uniform. "An' what d'ye suppose he is become?" he asked as he gazed at the photograph. "He looks like an admiral of the navy! Doesn't he look grand now? An' there's them that said the boy couldn't make good. Little they know of Emmett Murtough."

And little did poor Old Tom know of New York City and its regiments of "White Wings" who clean the streets!

The picture card revived all of Old Tom's faith in Emmett, and Sheila was compelled to listen to his praises of the man at every meal and during the long evenings

"It was whilst he was wooing me that he did it."

before the fireplace. But Sheila heard her father in silence. She commented in no wise save when her patience gave way and she cried: "Enough, Father! Emmett Murtough is nothing to me nor can he ever be after what has happened."

"Tush, now, an' couldn't ye forgive a boy that's doing so well, even if he was after making a mistake here in Kilmamul?"

"He was not honest with me," she would answer. "It was whilst he was wooing me an' promising me the ring that he did it. There's no truth in him."

But Old Tom remained loyal, and soon another letter was received. But of this she said nothing to Sheila. Old Tom began to have business at Knockbotherum, and two or three times a week he would drive there in the morning and return at night. Sheila suspected that something was up, but Old Tom, who strangely enough always returned sober from these visits, gave her no hint as to his business.

"What are ye doing in Knockbotherum, Father?"

"An' why should I tell me business to a chit of a girl?" he would reply, and that was the best satisfaction Sheila could elicit from the old man. Near half a year had passed when Sheila learned Old Tom's secret. One night she heard him singing as the pony ended its plodding way from Knockbotherum. Sheila knew the portent of that husky voice. Old Tom had stopped too long at the Knockbotherum tavern. Sheila hurried out to help him from the cart and to unhitch and put up the pony.

"Ah, Sheila, acushla, 'tis news I have for ye, great news!"

"Into the house with ye first an' let me pour ye a cup of tea," she replied, "then ye shall tell me."

"Tis no tea I want, for I've brought home a drop from the tavern," he objected, as he dragged from the cart a half gallon jug. "Hurry with the pony, Sheila, an' I'll tell ye the news!"

At last, in good humor, thought Sheila, as she cared for the pony. And what could be the news? Was it another letter from Emmett? No matter, she would not afternoon with a Treasure Hunt won by Richard Lindenfesler. During the latter part of the evening a campfire was held.

At the Camp Betterment Period on Thursday morning the scouts placed stones on the clearing before the cooking tent to form lanes where the visitors could park their cars. The campus before the tents was cleared of weeds and a better path made to the river for the swimmers.

Just before mess two canoes and a rowboat arrived at camp. Bank opened after mess. The scouts and cub scouts can deposit their money in the bank for safe-keeping. This afternoon there was an aquatic meet for both cubs and scouts:

Cubs: 50-yard dash: 1, Lindenfesler; 2, Sommers; 3, Bob McKenstry.

Today many scouts passed their tests with others receiving special instruction. A number of boys took their fourteen-mile hike, while others spent considerable time mapping the countryside for their first class mapping.

Man Arrested Here Plotted To Break Jail

the jail; evidently having been concealed by the visitors.

The New Bedford police came to Doylestown armed with requisition papers and a governor's warrant signed by Governor Fuller, of Massachusetts, and a representative of Governor John S. Fisher of Pennsylvania. Due to the absence of Judge William C. Ryan, he being on his vacation, the papers were taken to Norristown, where they were signed by Judge Harold Knight. They will be presented today to Sheriff Horace Gwiner. Loroche has bragged to the prisoners that he will never be taken from the jail alive.

Bristol A. A. To Oppose Holmesburg Tomorrow

"Johnny" Mulholland, manager of the Bristol baseball team, has gotten an entire new team together with the exception of one player, Paul Barrett, who will play the left field position, when they play Holmesburg on Sullivan's field here tomorrow.

The rest of the team is made up of former Diston stars, Pete Elssessor, shortstop; Art Hayes, first; Ashcroft, third; and Littleton on second. Several of these men are known in the northeast as real ball players.

The Holmesburg team is also an aggregation of stars from another club, most of whom played for Bustleton, champions in the Suburban League.

Mulholland says that there is great rivalry between these two teams and a great game is expected. He also stated that the game would start promptly at 3 o'clock.

The cost of election has risen to such a figure that it is hardly appropriate to speak of an office as a "gift" of the people.

A lot of time seems to be wasted in trying to save many who are not lost and many more who are not worth saving.

The Man Who Wins

The man who wins is the man who acts,
Who builds on a basis of solid facts;
Who doesn't sit down to mope and dream,
Who pumps ahead with the force of a stream,
Who hasn't the time to fuss and fret,
But gets there every time—you bet.

A Bristol lady was telling us the other day that she used to sit up until one o'clock in the morning wondering if her sweetheart would ever go home. Now she declares that she sits up until one o'clock every night wondering if he will ever come home.

"Is your wife still at home?" a gentleman we know was asked by a friend.
"Not much," he retorted. "She is louder there than anywhere else."

NEW CHEVROLET ZONE SALES OFFICE CREATED

Creation of a new Chevrolet zone sales office, the 20th to be opened since 1925 and the 43rd now established in the United States, more than half of which have parts distribution depots providing the public with quicker and more efficient service, was announced today by H. J. Klingler, general sales manager of the Chevrolet Motor Company.

The new zone, located at Portland, Me., is the ninth to be established since the first of the year, according to

Mr. Klingler, others having been opened at Columbia, S. C.; Salt Lake City, Utah; Richmond, Va.; Butte, Mont.; El Paso, Tex.; Charleston, W. Va.; Wichita, Kan., and Seattle, Wash.

"The rapidly with which new offices have been opened this year denotes a generally healthful condition of business throughout the country," Mr. Klingler said. "It will be noted that our new offices are located in every section of the United States, an indication that conditions are uniformly good, which augurs well for the fall outlook. Further evidence of this is contained in the fact that Chevrolet sales for every month this year showed a substantial gain over the same period last year, and August sales for the first ten days indicated that we will have the best August of record. By the middle of the month factory production will have exceeded the entire output for 1926.

"Our policy is to place new zone offices wherever the growth in car sales warrants it. With this in mind we get a new index of the enormous increase in production and sales of Chevrolets by noting that in 1925 we had only 23 zone offices and an annual output of 519,060 units. Today we have 43 zone offices and our facories are planning to turn out nearly one million cars this year.

"The new office at Portland gives us a network of wholesale points in every section of the country, extending from Portland, Me., to Jacksonville, Fla., and from Seattle, Wash., to Los Angeles, Cal., with many intermediate points such as Fargo, N. D., El Paso, Tex., and Columbia, S. C. The last two additions to the list were at the northern extremities—Portland and Seattle."

"Towns which acquire new zone offices benefit considerably by their establishment. Each zone office has its own sales manager and an assistant, a parts and service manager, a sales promotion manager, a car distributor, an office manager, an accountant, five to twenty field representatives, and a large clerical force adequate to handle many thousands of business each year.

"In addition to the car sales duties executed at these zones, they prove of still further service to the public under our present plan that makes many of them also parts distribution centers. At 24 of the 43 zones provision has been made for the establishment of parts depots, each one to carry from $50,000 to $500,000 worth of parts, and bringing to the communities in which they are located a business of these proportions. This will obviate the delay entailed when new parts have to be forwarded from the factory, and will assure Chevrolet owners everywhere of instant service on new parts or replacements."
